Trip Overview

Nepal is not only famed for its mountain peaks. Hidden amongst this beautiful country there is also a wild jungle where you can enjoy a unique safari experience. Whether you want to walk amongst the rhino, watch the indigenous birds, get down in the water with the crocodile, spot a tiger – or simply enjoy a beautiful park that has elephants grazing in your garden – then we have the trip for you.

We are offering a three-day trip that allows you to absorb all the beauty and wildlife that the jungle has to offer. Situated about 172 km south of the Capital, in the lowlands of inner Terai, this Chitwan Safari Jungle tour is easy to get to and perfect for any animal or nature lover.

The Rapti river system and its myriad of lakes are the perfect habitats for the huge variety of fish that the park hosts – and of course for the Crocodiles that rule the lakes. Take a canoe and find yourself level with the water's surface, cruising face to face with the formidable reptiles. The most famous animals to rule this kingdom however are the land mammals. Chitwan National Park is home to at least 53 mammals including Swamp deer, Rhinoceros, wild elephant, and the infamous Bengal Tiger.

Chitwan National Park was enlisted on the UNESCO world heritage site in 1979. Covering an area of 932 sq km, the park is made up of varying vegetation – hilly areas with deciduous Sal forests, dense elephant grass, and riverine forests of silk cotton, Sisam, and Acacia trees – ensuring that every turn you take is both unique and beautiful.

The Chitwan Jungle Safari tour offers an insight into the wilderness of the jungle through major activities that include a thrilling jungle walk, jeep safari, and canoe rides. You will also enjoy bird watching, elephant breeding, cultural dancing, and village visits – all in just three days!
