Your EBC helicopter tour will begin at the Tribhuvan International Kathmandu domestic airport. Our team will pick you up from your hotel early in the morning and bring you to the airport. As you arrive at the airport, your heli tour to Everest base camp adventure and the excitement will grow.

After reaching the airport, your guide will assist you in the check-in process. The airport officer will check your documents and tickets after checking in; after completing this step, you'll be ready for a thrilling helicopter tour. Before entering the helicopter, our experienced and highly qualified pilot will provide a detailed safety brief to make sure that you are fully aware of all safety rules and procedures. Your safety is our primary priority; we want you to feel secure and comfortable during the journey.

You'll have access to stunning viewpoints of Kathmandu Valley surroundings as the helicopter takes flight. As you fly into the Himalayas, city life slowly gives way to rolling green hills. With amazing views of the Himalayas, after 45 minutes, you will arrive at Lukla at an altitude of 2,820 meters. Lukla is famous for Lukla airport, where we will land to refill fuel.

After filling in fuel, you'll continue your Everest helicopter tour to the Everest View Hotel for some rest. After that, you'll land at Pheriche. From Pheriche, you'll land at Kala Patthar, where you can see the surrounding mountains. After reaching Kalapatthar, your Everest helicopter tour will stop as you have to trek on foot to reach the Everest base camp.

After returning from Everest base camp, you'll again continue your Everest helicopter tour as you will return flight and will directly fly Kathmandu.

The Journey Begins: Kathmandu to Lukla Airport

The EBC Helicopter Tour starts from Tribhuvan International Airport in Kathmandu. The initial leg of the journey takes you to Lukla, a small town situated at 2,860 meters, known as the gateway to Everest. This flight offers views of terraced landscapes, flowing rivers, and the first glimpses of the snow-capped Himalayas.

Lukla to Everest View Hotel on Helicopter

When we reach Lukla, we land a helicopter at Tenzing Hiallry airport for a while as the helicopter needs to be refueled. When unloading the fuel, you'll have enough time for refreshments there. You'll get a chance to see another helicopter land there also. Lukla Airport is your starting point for an amazing journey.

After refilling the fuel, you'll continue your journey to Everest View Hotel. Everest View Hotel is a luxurious hotel located at an altitude of 3880m and provides 360 views of the surroundings.

The Everest View Hotel provides the natural beauty of the region. visitors can see the nearby surrounding views and discover the rich biodiversity and unique Sherpa culture there. Adventure seekers can take part in thrilling activities like hiking and mountain biking.

Helicopter Flight From Everest View Hotel to Pheriche

After leaving from the Everest View Hotel, your next flight is Pheriche. Located at an altitude of 4371m, Pheriche provides an amazing view of mountains, including Ama Dablam and Lhotse. Pheriche is a starting point for several renowned trekking routes, including the famous Everest Base Camp Trek and the risky Island Peak Climbing Tour.

Trekkers can visit stunning valleys, massive forests, and charming Sherpa communities while taking in the natural beauty of the Himalayas. Pheriche is an attractive place that provides the spirit of the Himalayas, providing a rewarding trip to those who visit.

Pheriche encourages trekkers to develop the spirit of adventure and immerse themselves in the glory of the Everest area with its breathtaking view and rich heritage of culture.

Helicopter Flight From Pheriche to Kalapatthar

After immersing yourself in the amazing Pheriche, you'll have a helicopter flight to Kalapatthar. At an altitude of 5644m, Kalapatthar is a place where you are going to take some rest by seeing amazing surroundings.

The Kalapatthar View is a place that perfectly represents the beauty of the Himalayas. In the presence of these mountains, you'll feel amazed and deeply connected to the beauty of nature.

Kalapatthar to Everest Base Camp Trek

Once you reach Kalapatthar by helicopter fly, then you cannot go for an extra flight. You have to trek to for further journey. it is about a 4.5km distance to reach the Everest base camp from Kala Patthar, which takes 2-3 hours for a trek.

The trek is short, but the high altitude and challenging surroundings can make the trek physically demanding. Trekkers are advised to move ahead slowly, sometimes rest to adjust to the altitude, and see amazing Himalayan views. After climbing from Kala Patthar to Everest Base Camp, the sense of achievement is truly incomparable and makes the entire trek worthy.

Why Doesn't Helicopter Land at Everest Base Camp?

You might be wondering why helicopters do not directly land at Everest base camp, although Everest base camp marks the beginning of the challenging trek towards Mount Everest. Here is the answer for your reason why:

- High Altitude: Everest Base Camp is situated at an altitude of 5,364 meters above sea level. At such a high elevation, the air is thin, making it challenging for helicopters to generate enough lift to safely land and take off.
- Thin Air and Reduced Engine Performance: Thin air at high altitudes affects the engine performance of helicopters. The reduced air density reduces engine power, which can affect the helicopter's ability to lift off the ground safely after landing.
- Unpredictable Weather: The weather conditions around Everest are unpredictable and can change rapidly. Sudden changes in weather, such as strong winds, low visibility, or snowfall, can cause significant risks during landing and takeoff.
- Limited Space: There aren't many options for safe landing spots because Everest Base Camp is surrounded by difficult and rocky ground. Helicopter landings are difficult and sometimes risky due to the complex landscape and lack of open areas.
- Environmental Impact and Conservation: Helicopter landings at Everest Base Camp are restricted to preserve the precious environment and reduce the human effect on the beautiful Himalayan surroundings. This conservation effort aims to protect the natural beauty of the region and maintain its ecological balance.

Everest Base Camp Trek Vs. Everest Helicopter Tour

Everest Base Camp Trek

The Everest Base Camp Trek is a well-known route that begins in Lukla and continues through beautiful towns, greenery, and stunning landscapes to Mount Everest's base camp. The trek offers breathtaking vistas of giant mountains like Ama Dablam, Lhotse, and Nuptse. The trek goes through the Sagarmatha National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage site.

The Everest base camp trek provides a variety of environments, from beautiful rhododendron forests to historic monasteries, providing an amazing visual experience. The Everest base camp trek provides trekkers the opportunity to immerse themselves in the hospitable Sherpa culture, which is known for its rich history.

The trekking route requires a good level of fitness and stamina. The trek continues for 12 to 14 days, depending on the chosen itinerary, and involves climbing to high altitudes, presenting both mental and physical challenges. Different problems can be seen during trekking in Everest base camp, including high altitude sickness, so taking care of your body is most important during trekking in Everest base camp.

The Everest helicopter tour provides an exciting experience to see the Himalayas and Mount Everest in their full beauty. Safety is the top priority for tour operators, and strong safeguards are in place to ensure a safe and pleasant journey. Travelers can go on this once-in-a-lifetime journey by choosing reputable operators, understanding safety regulations, and enjoying the excitement of adventure.

As mentioned earlier, during your Everest helicopter tour, some packages include a stop at the Everest View Hotel. This hotel is renowned for offering one of the best views of Mount Everest. Additionally, there are other attractions like the Tengboche Monastery, one of the region's most important monasteries.

One of the concerns during the Base Camp Helicopter Tour is the altitude. It's important to listen to your body and communicate with the pilot or guide if you feel any symptoms of altitude sickness. The helicopters are equipped with oxygen for emergencies.

Booking Your Tour

When booking your Everest base camp helicopter tour package choose a reputable company. Read reviews and maybe even seek recommendations from those who have previously undertaken this journey.

In Conclusion

The helicopter tour to Everest base camp is not just a journey but an experience that will be etched in your memory for a lifetime. With the majestic Everest as the backdrop, this tour encapsulates the Himalayas' beauty, majesty, and spirit in a way few other experiences can match. Whether you are an adventure enthusiast, a photographer, or someone looking to experience the Himalayas most majestically, this helicopter tour is for you.

Day Trip

Everest Base Camp Helicopter Landing Tour

1. Kathmandu to Lukla
2. Lukla to Everest View Point
3. Everest View Point to Pheriche / Lobuche
4. Kala Patthar
5. Return to Lukla
6. Lukla to Kathmandu

You will be collected from your hotel in the morning and drive to the airport. You will board your Everest base camp best helicopter tour to Lukla from here, and the excitement will begin! Flying early in the morning, the skies should be clear as we fly east, enjoying panoramic views of Kathmandu before heading toward the mountains. On our thrilling ride, we will fly above Himalayan peaks before reaching Lukla, a mountaintop Sherpa settlement known as the 'Gateway to Everest.' We will land at Tenzing-Hillary Airport to refuel and explore before returning to the mountains

Fly from Lukla to Everest Base Camp; Stopover at Kala Patthar (5550m/19,290ft) Enjoy breathtaking views of glacial rivers, Sherpa settlements, and majestic monasteries as we get back on board and fly over the emerald Gokyo Lakes - their sparkling turquoise waters contrasting with the icy-white frozen glaciers.

As we reach Everest Base Camp, your helicopter will hover over the expedition groups as they attempt to scale Mount Everest. If it's the climbing season, the snow-covered landscape will be filled with colorful tents, creating a beautiful patchwork for you to observe from above. Surrounding the trekkers, you can view the broad glacial basin of Western Cwm, Khumbu Icefall, and Khumbu Glacier.

The helicopter will then get in touch in Kala Patthar. At 5545m, you are almost at the foot of Mount Everest and can take in the atmosphere as you are surrounded by one of the most incredible views on Earth. A chain of some of the highest peaks in the World rises around you as you soak in the views and take pictures. Due to the height, the air here is thin, and oxygen levels are low. So, to ensure you are not affected by the altitude, we will only stop here for 10 to 15 minutes before flying onto Shyangboche.

Breakfast at Shyangboche (30-40 minutes) and fly back to Kathmandu. Our next stop is in Shyangboche, where we will step off the helicopter for 20 - 40 minutes and enjoy one of the most magical breakfasts of your life. Flanked by the frozen walls of Ama Dablam, Thamserku, and Khumbu Himal, you can celebrate the completion of this beautiful tour.
